RE: Raychem Underfloor heating
Our reference number. Please mention in all future correspondence:

Dear Mr. Bittner,

On the basis of the received technical information, we can confirm that the Raychem self-regulating floor heating technology appears to have advantages over similar, not in the concrete embedded, electrical floor heating systems in combination with laminate floors, because it prevents "local overheating".

It is stringent necessary to respect the technical guidelines of both Raychem and Quick-Step, according to the actual technical data sheets.

Regards,
T.Smet, technical services manager
